The screenshot shows the MailChimp interface for managing templates. At the top, there are navigation tabs for Campaigns, Templates, Lists, Reports, and Automation. The user's name 'Ryan' and email 'rb@mobilebeat.com' are visible in the top right. The main heading is 'Templates', with buttons for 'File Manager' and 'Create Template'. Below this, there are filters for 'Folders', 'Sort By' (set to 'Newest First'), and a search bar for 'Search saved templates'. A list of templates is displayed, each with a checkbox, a thumbnail, a title, a description of when it was last edited and by whom, and an 'Edit' dropdown menu. The 'Mobile Beat MBLV Special' template is selected, and its dropdown menu is open, showing options: 'Create campaign', 'Send to Mandrill', 'Preview', 'Export as HTML', 'Share' (highlighted), and 'Replicate'. Other templates include 'Mobile Beat - Adding a Photo Booth...', 'Virtual Interactive Game System', 'Mobile Beat 2016-03-29', and 'Mobile Beat 2016'.

This is a smaller version of the navigation bar from the screenshot above, showing the same tabs: Campaigns, Templates, Lists, Reports, and Automation.

Share Mobile Beat MBLV Special
